Procerin is combination product that includes a a topical agent and oral capsules. It comes in a convenient tablet form and topical solution that are used daily for the treatment of male hair loss. Procerin is an all-natural supplement available without a prescription. While there are several causes of hair loss, Procerin is effective in reversing hair loss in men caused by androgenetic alopecia, the most common cause of male hair loss. Androgenetic alopecia results in thinning hair and the familiar receding hairline (or widow's peak).

Procerin blocks DHT without reacting with testosterone (as some prescription medications do). This reduces, and can even halt, the further loss of hair from the scalp, without causing the sexual side effects of prescription drugs like finasteride (Propecia). Men of all ages, and all levels of hair loss, can benefit from Procerin.
